

Prophecy to Neal from Harold Eberle
July 9, 2010

Continuing, continuing in faithfulness Neal, indeed, your body is now yours, completely. And thru the war and twice you've died inside, even to bring yourself to this place, and it was not you doing the wrong, it was simply the way things go, people having their own agendas, people doing this. You are walking before me in strength and I will now bring you into a season where finances will now be stable and strong and I have put some people around you to support and strengthen you. This is who your are, a season now of growth.

And now it comes to a place where families are added unto you. I am going to be bringing you into a season because your place, your ministry will be a place where families can grow and mature, they can love one another, and I like the atmosphere you are creating. What's in your heart is now going to manifest to those you shepherd, and it will bless them. Somehow young people in your midst, I going to raise up a fire-brand in the midst of them and in that they will rise up to a whole other level and you will take great joy in that and you will say, "Look, God, you are doing this in our midst", and it will be great.

And I will bathe with my presence come upon your people as you have asked of Me, for now that I have cleaned out that which was discouraging, and that which was bringing confusion, I have brought in unity and I have brought in purity and now I would like to abide and brood upon you. You looked to Me and you cried out. Indeed, I heard your voice and I am now answering. No sudden shifts, no sudden changes, because you are doing what I want you to do. You will live and be strong. In Jesus name.
